The appointment and continuing employment of every ~~member~~ Department employee of the San Francisco Police Department shall be based on conduct that conforms to the guidelines set forth in this policy.

Police officers, because of their status as peace officers, have a greater responsibility to report and prevent misconduct than members of the public. Experience, rank, or tenure do not provide an excuse for failing to take appropriate action. Although supervisors are responsible for investigating allegations of misconduct, all Department employees are responsible for preventing and reporting misconduct.

The below General Rules of Conduct provide ~~all members of the~~ Department employees with information and safeguards necessary to carry out the Department's mission. While these General Rules of Conduct are designed to address many different scenarios that members may encounter, ~~members~~ Department employees are required to know all General Orders and policies of the SFPD. Failure to abide by the mission, general rules of conduct, and Department policies may result in discipline up to, and including, termination and/or criminal investigation.

2.01.03 GENERAL RULES OF CONDUCT

Upon observing or otherwise becoming aware of a suspected violation of the rules, procedures or policies as set forth in this General Order, every Department member shall report any such violation to a superior officer.

Any employee who observes any misconduct shall take appropriate action to immediately stop the misconduct. The fact that a supervisor is present and not taking appropriate action to stop the misconduct does not relieve other employees present from this duty to act.

1. Misconduct - Members shall conduct themselves, both on and off-duty, in a manner that reflects favorably on the Department. Unprofessional conduct is conduct that brings the Department into disrepute, reflects discredit upon the member/organization, or impairs the operation or efficiency of the Department or personnel. Notification shall include the following: day, date, time, location of incident, involved parties, and summarize the circumstances of the incident. Any other means shall not satisfy the notification requirement. Members may contact their representative prior to completing the memorandum; however, members remain responsible for completing the memorandum upon return to duty.

When a member learns or is made aware of possible misconduct by another member, that member shall immediately notify a supervisor. If that supervisor is the subject of the alleged misconduct, then the reporting member shall notify a different supervisor.
