

Annual Report FY 22-23

San Francisco Department of Public Health

Office of Compliance and Privacy Affairs

Areas of Responsibility

- OCPA is responsible for mitigating potential financial and reputational harm for the San Francisco Department of Public Health. OCPA does this through its four main areas of focus:
- Protecting patient privacy,
- Compliance with governmental payer, regulations
- Ensuring legal sharing of DPH data with its partners, and
- Whistleblower investigations.

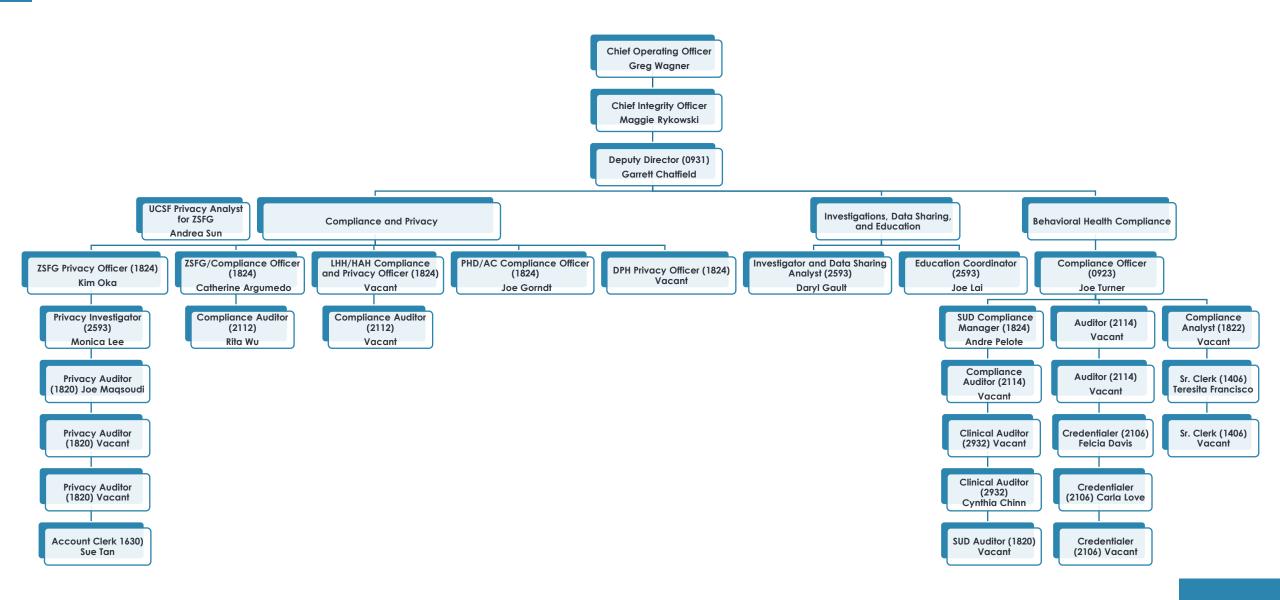

- OCPA focused significant efforts on the Annual Compliance and Privacy training during FY 22-23. It was the first year that access to DPH electronic systems was suspended for staff who did not complete the training.
- OCPA redesigned its resource website and moved it to sf.gov. The website provides DPH staff a central place to find policies, answers to common questions, report concerns, and is easily searchable as part of the sf.gov system. The website is sf.gov/ocpa.
- OCPA also worked to improve its internal record-keeping. We developed a centralized log to track all compliance and privacy matters and we begin a project to standardize file naming conventions and record keeping. This work continues into FY 23-24.

21st Century Cures Act

Guidance

Increased Patient Access

 The Cures Act increases access for patients to their health data by preventing "information blocking" or interfering with a patient's access to their electronic health data.

What the Cures Act Means for DPH Patients

 Most notes will be released to a patient's MyChart immediately upon signing. Except in certain circumstances, all notes written by any discipline are available for patients to see.

What the Cures Act Means for Providers

- Generally, notes must be released. Providers may choose not to share a specific note for only the following reasons:
 - To prevent harm (release of this note could reasonably cause harm to the life or physical safety of this patient or another person).
 - To respect privacy choices (the patient or their proxy has requested that the information shared in this note not be released electronically or has an expectation of confidentiality of the contents of the note).
 - The information in the note is compiled in reasonable anticipation of, or for use in, a civil, criminal, or administrative action or proceeding.

DPH has adopted an "open notes" strategy to encourage patient engagement and safety. Providers and other staff who have any questions on the Cures Act or whether it is appropriate not to share a note under one of the exceptions, should contact compliance privacy@sfdph.org for quidance.

What you need to know about accessing your own record in EPIC:

- DPH and LHH employees are restricted from accessing their own records and records of family members.

What you need to do...

- Please access your record via the MyChart patient portal and not through your provider Epic account.
- Staff and providers who want to know their test results (such as COVID-19) must access the information through the EPIC patient portal via MyChart.
